

Communities can help the library grow by sharing and encouraging people to review the accessible venues and activities they love. The review process is simple—just answer a few questions about the experience and what accessible features were valuable, along with some photos.

These reviews will help other people plan their ideal day out and promote venues that are working hard to make their spaces accessible.

You can check out reviews of places on the Accessible Day Out here: <https://firstport.co.nz/resources-tools/find-accessible-places/>